

Can you identify that bird?

Observing and identifying different bird species can be challenging. They might be far away or hiding behind a branch. And sometimes the sunlight makes it challenging to see their colors and patterns. You might only see a SILHOUETTE. A silhouette is the outline of something that is dark against a lighter background. Draw a line connecting each bird to the correct silhouette.

